Hospital Evaluation

Don't just look at the lobby photos. Look for physical markers of safety, such as international board certifications (JCI), the availability of an on-site intensive care unit, and transparent patient safety records.

Surgeon Evaluation

A surgeon's reputation is built on consistency. Look for:

- Evidence of Specialization: Does the surgeon focus primarily on your procedure of choice?
- Peer Recognition: Are they members of reputable surgical societies?
- Direct Communication: Is the surgeon or their medical team available to answer your specific, non-promotional questions before you book?

Treatment Cost Comparison

Cosmetic treatment costs are rarely as simple as a single price tag. You must factor in the "hidden" requirements of surgery, such as:

- Pre-operative screenings and diagnostics.
- Anesthesia and operating room fees.
- Required post-operative medication and compression garments.
- Your post-surgery travel and lodging expenses.
